Greg,

I know we've been working on your evaluation for 3 weeks, but I wanted to submit a personal email to you about your performance as a city manager for our city.

As you've gotten to know me, you know that I don't hold back my opinions, except for maybe on the dias. I've contacted you each time that I've been frustrated or concerned about certain situations that the city has faced. Those are in your evaluation because they need to be on paper, not because I'm still frustrated or concerned about them.

Overall, since you've gotten here, I feel that you brought the oil we needed to make our machine run faster and more efficiently. I appreciate your knowledge of city management, even though when you started you were new to this type of position. I appreciate your ability to listen to me and others, and your ability to respond in a professional manner, or in a matter of fact manner. I've never felt like you have wronged me, lied to me, or led me astray. You are up front, truthful, and you give you position and our city the integrity it deserves. You are obviously a hard worker, your long hours, and the amount of goals being met prove this and for that I am truthfully grateful.

In short, you are doing a hell of a job and I hope that you can stay with us for a while longer until we lift our sunken ship completely out of the water. The City of Clearlake has always deserved better, and never before until you arrived has Clearlake finally gotten what they deserved.....great leadership.

Thank you for what you do. Oh and your sense of humor is great too....even in the worst of times you still find a way to laugh and I appreciate that. You are a good person and thank you for taking this on.
